

MSU WebDev CAFÉ

Spring Campus Forum

Friday, February 19, 2010, 2:30 - 5:00 pm
145 Communication Arts and Sciences Building

Mark your calendar! High def, YouTube, podcasting, Flip cams - video is seemingly everywhere, and increasingly expected. The MSU WebDev CAFÉ spring forum will focus on the challenges and complexities of developing video content and delivering it on Web sites. Through presentations and commentary, speakers from across the University, representing different professional contexts and perspectives, will discuss:

- Considerations for planning and producing video recordings
- Quality, accessibility, and standards for the Web
- Examples of their work
- Resources, technologies, and services available from their departments

Please plan to attend and share this announcement with colleagues. All MSU faculty, staff, and students welcome!

Video on the Web

Welcome

Burt Bargerstock, University Outreach and Engagement

Speaker Presentations

James White, International Studies and Programs

Doug Schrems and Bill Richards, WKAR and Broadcasting Services

Kevin Epling and Al Moreno, University Relations

Jiatyan Chen and Sean Leahy, Virtual University Design and Technology

Panel Discussion

All speakers participate, providing an opportunity for questions, comments, debate

About the MSU WebDev CAFÉ

The MSU Web Development Community for Advising, Facilitating, and Enabling (MSU WebDev CAFÉ) serves the community of MSU Web professionals by facilitating discussion and information sharing, convening meetings and events, and offering feedback on policies and large-scale applications. Broad themes pursued through CAFÉ activities include: Web design, standards, development, services, and collaboration tools. Specific topics may include programming, mashups, rich media, content management systems, information architecture, usability, accessibility, Web hosting, storage, security, writing for the Web, and Web 2.0 tools such as social networking. Join the MSU WebDev CAFÉ e-mail list at: <http://list.msu.edu/cgi-bin/wa?SUBED1=webdevcafe&A=1>.

For More Information

Contact Burt Bargerstock at 353-8977 or bargerst@msu.edu. To learn more about MSU's Communities for Advising, Facilitating, and Enabling (CAFÉs), see: <http://lct.msu.edu/cafes>.