

SCANDINAVIAN STUDIES IN ASIAN BUSINESS AND POLITICS

DJØF PUBLISHING PRESENTS A NEW SERIES:

GENERAL DESCRIPTION

The series aims to publish books in English for education and special interest audiences concerning the interdependence of »Asian Business and Politics«.

The intellectual motivation for treating both business and politics in one series is mainly because politics seems to play a much bigger role for business and business development in Asia than in the West.

In the best traditions of interdisciplinary scholarship, the series includes macro-economic, business economic, sociological, political, anthropological, and juridical approaches to studying and researching the growth and dynamics of Asian business in the wider national and international political contexts.

Typical length for manuscripts will be in the range of 100 – 300 pages.

The series is uniquely positioned in the publishing world by focusing on high quality research undertaken by Scandinavian researchers in Asian Business and Politics.

Each volume of the series is peer-reviewed.

INVITATION TO SCHOLARS AND RESEARCHERS

The series invites scholars and researchers to undertake projects exploring the internal and external dimensions of a 'new' Asia, its economic and political interactions with contemporary global systems, and business development.

PROPOSALS

We welcome proposals for challenging and original works that meet the criteria of this series. Should you wish to send in a proposal for a collection of essays, a single or multi-authored monograph, or a course reader, please contact DJØF Publishing: forlag@djoeff.dk.

SERIES EDITOR

The series editor is Professor Anthony P. D'Costa – Australia India Institute and the School of Social and Political Sciences, University of Melbourne.
