

Call for Papers

Dear Members, Conference Participants, Reviewers, and other Friends of Academic OASIS and the Institute of Strategic and International Studies,

Throughout its existence, the Institute of Strategic and International Studies (InstSIS) and the International Academy for Advancement of Business Research (IAABR) have offered their members flexibility and quality services, and we hope we can continue providing the same benefits in the future. We are also making every effort to improve our services, and for this purpose our two organizations have decided to pool together our resources. The name of the new umbrella organization is Academic Organization for Advancement of Strategic and International Studies® with an official acronym of Academic OASIS®. Therefore, most of our future initiatives and events will be announced using this new organizational name or our new acronym. The website of Academic OASIS® is www.AcademicOASIS.org. Following the legacy of the organizations that have merged to give birth to Academic OASIS – InstSIS and IAABR, we are going to continue providing forums for you to interact with hundreds of like-minded scholars from all continents.
