

Call for Participants – 5th KTO Paper Development Workshop
June 15-18 2016

The 5th KTO Paper Development Workshop will be held at SKEMA Business School in Sophia Antipolis (French Riviera), June 15-18, 2016. This PDW is open to young researchers.

The purpose of the workshop is to develop the publication strategies and research skills of promising scholars in the fields of strategy, international business, organization or entrepreneurship. To allow for interactive discussions and feedback between participants in a friendly environment, the number of participants will be limited to 20-25.

Participants will attend seminars conducted by Gautam Ahuja (University of Michigan), Olivier Bertrand (SKEMA Business School), Stefano Brusoni (ETHZurich), Lars Frederiksen (Aarhus University), Tomi Laamanen (University of St Gallen), and Giovanni Valentini (IESE Business School). In small group sessions managed by an experienced faculty, each paper will be allocated a senior scholar as a discussant and authors will receive feedback from peers and other participants. Thus, participants will be required to read and review the papers from other participants of the session. The workshop will be organized by Gianluigi Giustiziero and Bruno Cirillo (SKEMA Business School).

The workshop is open to all interested scholars though preference will be given to advanced PhD students, post doctorates and early career academics.

Selection of papers will be done through submission of extended abstracts (or full papers) and a CV no later than March 31 2016 by email to gianluigi.giustiziero@skema.edu.

Key dates and further information:

Abstract deadline: March 31, 2016
