

Global Research Society, LLC Commences Activities in Michigan

Company is devoted to the development of paid research activities performed by academics and practitioners from around the world on a project-by-project basis.

LANSING, MI, September 19, 2017 /24-7PressRelease/ -- The executives of Global Research Society, LLC have announced the commencement of business activities in Michigan devoted to the development of paid research activities performed by academics and practitioners from around the world on a project-by-project basis. The primary focus of this society is on international business activities within the context of contemporary globalization. Other connected areas include education, environmental standards, management, and foreign policy.

Examples of projects can include the following:

- * Developing a feasibility study for corporate clients wishing to expand operations abroad
- * Examining national (domestic) policies and their potential or current effect on international business development in-country or abroad
- * Creating a plan for a national or local government to develop new or enhance current business and political relationships conducive to the promotion of international business activities
- * Revising educational, legal, or export/import regulations to aid in the development of international business
- * Enhancing current human resource management practices to improve the quality of candidates targeted for international assignments

The company currently has over 1,000 academic and practitioner contacts around the world ready to participate in these and other types of paid research. All project participants are hired on an independent contractor basis due to the nature of the work and its arrangement involved. Interested parties should send their CVs or resumes to the attention of Christopher Byrne at cbyrne@globalresearch.com or globalresearchsociety1@gmail.com.

Global Research Society, LLC is a Michigan-based research organization devoted to international business activities within the context of contemporary globalization. Other offices are being planned in Beijing (China), New York City (USA), and Moscow (Russia) during 2017-18. The company is an IBM Business Partner and a US Government Contractor.
