

Faculty Development in International Business

SOUTH KOREA

May 30 - June 7, 2019

LMU CIBE and FIU CIBER are happy to announce a new FDIB program in South Korea.

Join us for the first annual Faculty Development in International Business Program to South Korea offered in joint collaboration between Loyola Marymount University, Florida International University, and Sungkyunkwan University. This program is designed for participants interested in pursuing their interests in the Asia Pacific business environment.

Participants will experience firsthand how multinationals and leading South Korean companies are shaping the international business environment resulting in a more competitive region.

Participants will visit top multinational companies, therefore giving them the opportunity to interact with top executives to discuss business in the region. In addition to visiting leading companies, participants will tour and visit historical sites, as well as attend academic lectures and networking opportunities hosted by Sungkyunkwan University (SKKU).

A $3,200 program fee will cover hotel accommodations (based on single occupancy) with daily breakfast, ground transportation for activities, entry to cultural sites, business visits, and some meals. Double occupancy may be available for a reduced fee if a pair can be matched. International airfare is not included.

To learn more about this program, including registration details and to view a tentative program schedule, visit ciber.fiu.edu or cba.lmu.edu/cibe. For questions, please contact Dr. Marki Jones at Marki.Jones@lmu.edu.

The program faculty director is Dr. Yongsun Paik, Director, Center for International Business Education; Loyola Marymount University.

Deadline for application and payment is March 25th, 2019.
