

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service

Detroit River International Wildlife Refuge

Join the team at Detroit River International Wildlife Refuge and represent the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service for this unique internship opportunity. If you are not sure what career field you are interested in pursuing, this is the internship for you. You will have a chance to sample many conservation career fields.

Gain experience with the Urban Wildlife Conservation Program in the Detroit and Monroe metro areas by learning all aspects of managing an international wildlife refuge, including:

- Administration: Ensure smooth operations of office functions.
- Maintenance: Engage in routine maintenance such as cleaning, painting, managing safety concerns, mowing, weeding, and working with contractors.
- Biology: Collect basic data from field investigations of land and water development projects.
- Visitor Services: Assist with on and off-site guided programming, including implementation of virtual videos, on-site hikes, and visitor center staffing.

Please reference the job announcement for more information on qualifications and how to apply.
