

Emerging Markets Theme

PhD Research Day

Call for Papers

The Cornell S.C. Johnson College of Business Emerging Markets Theme, in collaboration with China Institute for Economic Research \(CICER\), the Cornell China Center, the Emerging Markets Institute and the Entrepreneurship and Innovation Institute, brings together scholars to provide thought leadership on the role of emerging markets – and emerging market multinationals – in the global economy.

This fall, the institute will host a PhD research day at Cornell Tech in New York city Thursday, 11/3. The conference will bring together students and faculty from across the US and abroad. If you are a PhD student doing work in Emerging Markets in any field, please register here and join us! If you would like to present your work, please email a one-page abstract to Andrew Foley (ajf283@cornell.edu) by Monday, 10/1. Limited funding may be available for presenters.
