

2023 SPRING SEMINAR SERIES*

FEBRUARY 3

Bruno Basso, PhD

MSU Foundation Endowed Professor, Department of Plant, Soil and Microbial Sciences, MSU
Digital Agriculture to Design and Scale Sustainable Agriculture

FEBRUARY 24

Jason Rowntree, PhD

Director, Center for Regenerative Agriculture; C.S. Mott Professor of Sustainable Agriculture, Animal Science, MSU
Ruminants' contribution to a sustainable food production system: It is not as it seems

FRIDAY, MARCH 17

Katherine Alaimo, PhD

Director, Sustainable Agriculture & Food Systems, Professor, Food Science and Human Nutrition, MSU
Pathways to Health through Gardening: Results from CAPS, a Mixed-Methods Randomized Controlled Trial

FRIDAY, MARCH 24

Vanessa García Polanco, MS

Policy Campaigns Co-Director, National Young Farmers Coalition
Becoming a Food System Advocate: Lessons for Food and Agriculture Policy Advocacy

FRIDAY, APRIL 7

M. Jahi Chappell, PhD

Director, Center for Regional Food Systems; Professor, Community Sustainability, MSU
Beginning to End Hunger: Lessons on food security, transformation, and solidarity from Belo Horizonte, Brazil

FRIDAY, APRIL 21

Matthew Houser, PhD

Regenerative Agricultural Fellow; Applied Scientist, Center for Environmental Sciences, The Nature Conservancy & University of Maryland
Chesapeake Bay Agriculture: Using Social Science to Advance Conservation Engagement

*Co-sponsored by the MSU Sustainable Agriculture & Food Systems program, Center for Regenerative Agriculture, Center for Regional Food Systems, and MSU College of Agriculture & Natural Resources Depts: Food Science & Human Nutrition, Plant Soil & Microbial Sciences, Community Sustainability, Animal Science, and Horticulture.

All seminars held Fridays 12:40 – 1:30 pm

Anthony Hall 1135 (across the hall from the Dairy Store)

or zoom: <https://msu.zoom.us/j/92317322585> ID: 923 1732 2585; passcode: SAFS

Social time/light snacks served: 12:10 – 12:40 pm